Truck Drivers Strike Is Having Effect At Some Youngstown Markets

BULLETIN
(International News Service)

YOUNGSTOWN, O., June 21—The Youngstown Sheet and Tube Company and Republic Steel Corporation today announced their plants here will re-open at 7 a. m. tomorrow.

Frank Purnell, president of Sheet and Tube, issued the "back to work" order for his 15,000 employes and then hurried to Cleveland for the steel strike mediation conference.

"All employes who want to work should enter the plants at 7 a. m." Purnell's notice read. "Until further notice turns will be 12 hours each with time and a half paid for overtime over eight hours."

Purnell said the mayors of Youngstown, Campbell, Struthers and Hubbard and Sheriff Ralph E. Elser "have stated to me they are willing and now able to protect company employes lawfully asserting their right to resume work."

Issues Statement

Details of the reopening were contained in newspaper advertisements and Purnell also sent letters to the employes in which he declared:

"The loss of millions of dollars of payrolls to our employes and the community could have been avoided completely if the CIO had submitted the entire question to the National Labor Relations Board and the U. S. supreme court. Why let women and children go hungry on an abstract question that can be properly settled in the courts."

Republic ordered its 6,000 employes to report for work at Stop 5, Poland avenue, scene of the bloody riot Saturday night in which two men were killed and 41 other persons injured.

The rioting was followed by a strike of union truck drivers which brought delivery service except for bread and milk to a standstill. Unable to furnish supplies because of the trucker's strike, Oles' Market,

It was close at hand, and the thunder kept rolling and rolling for at least a minute after the flash.

Tax Avoidance Probe May Last For Months

(International News Service)

WASHINGTON, June 21.—The names of at least five persons will be presented when the joint congressional tax avoidance investigating committee resumes its sessions tomorrow, officials said today.

Their names will be made public in connection with a description of methods used to legally escape federal taxes by subscribing to large insurance policies in foreign companies.

The treasury, in succession, planned to discuss methods—also legal—of avoiding taxes through personal holding companies and family transactions. Departmental officials also revealed they are considering making public the names of attorneys advising the alleged avoiders.

May Last for Months

As the joint committee prepared to swing into the second phase of its inquiry it became apparent that the investigation may continue for months.

Senator LaFollette (P) of Wisconsin was to push his proposal that the treasury submit names of

Four-Power Reprisals Demand Of Germany

(International News Service)

BERLIN, June 21—Immediate four-power reprisals if Spanish Loyalists again attack neutral patrol ships is the minimum guarantee demanded in London by Germany, it was authoritatively understood today.

An extremely sharp collective warning by Britain, France, Italy and Germany coupled with the warning of punitive measures is asked by the Reich.

Otherwise, the London non-intervention committee will be told that Germany has regained her "freedom of action" to act alone against Loyalist Spain for last week's attempted torpedoing of the cruiser Leipzig.

Announcement was made this morning by the G. C. Murphy company and the owners of the St. Cloud building site, the Graham heirs and Harlans, that the general contract for the construction of the new building which will replace the structure destroyed by fire on March 31 had been awarded to Matthew A. The building will be of brick and steel, two stories in height, and will be occupied on its completion by the G. C. Murphy company, who have taken a long term lease on the whole building.

The structure is being erected according to the plans and specifications of the Murphy company, whose architects have prepared the plans.

Work on the building will be started as soon as the contractors are able to get the materials on the job, it is stated, possibly this week.

(International News Service)

RIVERHEAD, N. Y., June 21.—Mrs. Helen Tiernan, blonde widow, was given 20 years to life in Bedford's women's reformatory today for the brutal murder of her seven-year-old daughter, Helen.

Mrs. Tiernan confessed killing Helen and attempting to do away with a son, Jimmy, four, to make room in her Manhattan apartment for her lover.

The judge's ruling left three possible verdicts: second degree murder, manslaughter, and acquittal.

Truck Drivers In Youngstown Join Walkout

Action Taken In Wake Of Battle At Republic Plant Saturday Night

TWO DEATHS ARE RESULT OF BATTLE

Truce Arranged After Clash Continued For About Eight Hours

(International News Service)

YOUNGSTOWN, O., June 21.—A sympathy walkout of truck drivers gripped the strike-weary Mahoning valley steel area today in the wake of a pitched battle Saturday night between pickets and police at Republic Steel corporation plant here which left two dead and 41 known wounded.

Hauling and delivery services in this district came to a standstill with a strike of A. F. of L. union truck drivers in protest against the use of special sheriff's deputies and extra city police employed for strike duty. Only milk and break deliveries were permitted.

Two Are Dead.

The two deaths Saturday night raised the national death toll in the current steel strike to 12. Victims were John Bojovich, 55, of Campbell and James Eperjeski of Youngstown. They carried CIO picket cards. Ten had died previously as a result of the Memorial Day riot at the South Chicago plant of Republic Steel.

The 41 known injured received attention at police stations and hospitals. Several score more were nursing cuts and bruises and recovering from the effects of tear gas in their homes.

Twenty-four persons, including a woman, were arrested as the aftermath of the riot. Six gave out-of-the-city addresses. Police were checking to determine whether others were imported by either the CIO or the steel companies. The prisoners yielded six guns and eight blackjacks, and an ice pick, police said, was concealed in the clothing of Mrs. Delires Garcio, 26.

Baron Cancels Visit To London

German Ambassador's Visit Is Called Off Suddenly Today

(International News Service)

LONDON, June 21.—Because of tension over the Spanish and international situation, Baron Constantin Von Neurath, German ambassador, today suddenly cancelled his much-heralded visit to London.

Shortly after Britain and Germany clashed over measures to be taken against possible future aggression by Spanish loyalists on neutral warships, the German government officially notified that Neurath's visit, scheduled to begin Wednesday, had been "postponed".

The Reich's step was taken, it was explained, because the "continued menace" to Germany warships by the Spanish Loyalista made Von Neurath's presence in Berlin essential.

Navy Says "No" To Cadet's Bride

MRS. BEULAH KATHLEEN NASH CHARLES A. NASH, JR.

Attempt of Mrs. Beulah Kathleen Nash to get Secretary of the Navy Claude Swanson to reinstate her husband proves unsuccessful. Her marriage to Charles A. Nash, Jr., last summer while he still was a student at the U. S. naval academy at Annapolis, Md., cost him his commission a few days ago. Mrs. Nash talked to Swanson's secretary and argued "the wedding wasn't legal, because I'd already married another man two years before and we never were divorced". The secretary refused to intervene. Navy officials said informally that only an act of congress can reinstate Nash.

Stalled Car Hit By Train

Family Abandons Car As Train Bears Down Upon It

ACCIDENT AT HARBOR BRIDGE

Four members of an Arlington avenue family narrowly escaped death Sunday evening when their car, stalled on the tracks at the Pennsylvania railroad's Harbor bridge crossing, was demolished a few minutes after it stopped, by the Pennsy's fast Pittsburgh-to-Sharon passenger train.

Mr. and Mrs. Aram Hagopian and their two children, Alice and Waski, of 710 Arlington avenue, climbed from the disabled car just a few moments before the locomotive of the train sped into sight and thundered into the machine. The accident occurred at 7:15.

Going 60 Miles An Hour

The train, operating, according to railroad officials, at a speed of 60 miles an hour, carried the auto a distance up the right-of-way and left it a total wreck. The locomotive was damaged considerably. The Hagopian family, fortunate to have escaped, watched on from a safe distance as the train struck the car.

The crossing, directly at the end of one side of the Harbor bridge over the Shenango river, is protected by standard warning signs. Engineer L. M. Wilkison, New Castle, had sounded his whistle as the train approached.

The train, of which F. H. Stanley, this city, was conductor, was delayed one hour by the accident.

Announced Reopening Plans For Youngstown Plants Add Much Tension

(BULLETIN
(International News Service)

CLEVELAND, June 21.—In an atmosphere made tense by announcement of two independent steel companies that they will reopen their Youngstown plants tomorrow, the federal mediation board today launched its efforts to settle the seven-state steel strike.

Republic Steel corporation and Youngstown Sheet and Tube company were the two independents which announced their Youngstown plants will be reopened tomorrow.

First Formal Conference

John L. Lewis, CIO chairman, and ten of his aides participated in the mediation board's first formal conference. Later the board, headed by Chairman Charles P. Taft, was to meet with the heads of four independent steel companies affected by the strike.

Soon after Lewis and his followers strode into Taft's hotel parlor suite, used as a conference room, President Frank Purnell of the Youngstown Sheet & Tube company announced in Youngstown that the company will reopen its plants there tomorrow.

Purnell then left for Cleveland where he and the heads of the three

Slaying Of Boy Being Probed

Six-Year Old Michael Martin, Jr., Found Slain In Berry Patch Near Mt. Carmel

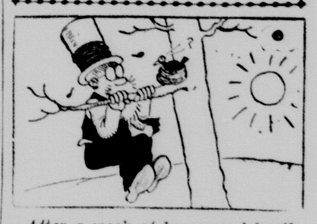

(International News Service)

MT. CARMEL, Pa., June 21.—Northumberland county authorities began a painstaking investigation today into the strange slaying of six-year-old Michael Martin, Jr., found shot to death in a berry patch near his home.

The child, bullet wounds in head and shoulder, was pronounced dead upon discovery of his body, scarcely an hour after he had left home. Dr. A. J. Ancerawicz, Kulpmont, county coroner, who was to conduct an autopsy today, indicated the boy first may have been shot accidentally, then later wounded deliberately.

Authorities said they found blood on the ground some 80 feet from where the body was found, possibly indicating the lad was slain there and his body carried into the berry patch.

After a week of hurry and bustle, hurry and scurry and rushing around, Sunday's a day to enjoy recreation and one of the best ways to have it I've found, is to hie to a spot where there's trees and some valleys, water that purls on its way to the sea, out where there isn't much traffic or bother reading and resting beneath a big tree. Out where the world seems all quiet and peaceful, out where there isn't much battle or hate far far away from the roar of the city, weather is damp and at seventy eight.

Blum Cabinet To Be Replaced

Camille Chautemps Shoulders Task Of Seeking To End French Crisis

"PEOPLE'S FRONT" MINISTRY QUITS

By KENNETH T. DOWNS
International News Service Staff Correspondent

PARIS, June 21. — Camille Chautemps, radical socialist minister of state in the fallen Blum government and twice before premier of France, today shouldered the task of attempting to end the nation's governmental crisis.

A wily veteran of many hotly fought political campaigns, Chautemps cautiously announced he had accepted "in principle" President Albert Le Brun's offer to form a new government replacing the resigned "people's front" ministry of Socialist Leon Blum.

Blum and Cabinet Quit.

Blum and his cabinet resigned after they were unable to wrest from a defiant senate dictatorial powers to deal with France's financial emergency and prevent possible devaluation of the French franc.

After a hectic night of political horse trading, Chautemps retired at 5:30 a. m., after the Blum government fell.

But he arose two hours later when sleepy President Le Brun summoned him for a conference, and at 9 a. m. Chautemps' acceptance of the task was announced.

Chautemps immediately began his round of conferences in an attempt to whip together a government. The first men he conferred with were Jules Jeanneney, president of the senate and a member of the left Democratic political group; former Premier Edouard Herriot and Edouard Daladier, prominent radical socialist leader and also a former premier. Chautemps also talked with members of the chamber of deputies radical group. He had been expected to announce definite acceptance of the premiership at 11 a. m. But he later delayed positive announcement on ground he needed further conference with members of his party.

ties in the bitter Saturday night fight on a cinder lot at the Republic plant one mile east of here. A police cruiser car was overturned and burned. The keys of other police cruisers were removed and thrown away, police charged. They also accused the rioters of opening all fire hydrants in the vicinity.

Eperjeski died of gunshot wounds in St. Elizabeth' hospital last night. Bojovich was brought in dead from the riot-torn Poland avenue battlefield Sunday morning where he bled to death from a bullet wound in the neck, according to the coroner.

Among the seven women casualties was Mrs. Mary Heaton Vorse, a magazine writer, "covering" the strike for a weekly publication. She was cut over the left eye. Edward Salt, a photographer for the Youngstown Vindicator, suffered 30 birdshot wounds in the back and legs while attempting to photograph the riot scene.

Most of the injured suffered wounds from bird and buckshot. The buckshot was believed fired by police and deputies while the latter charged the birdshot came from the picket lines.

Six of the injured were sheriff's deputies. Two city policemen were beaten.

Versions Differ.

Two opposing versions of the battle, which began at 8 o'clock Saturday night and did not subside until 4 o'clock Sunday morning, were given by police and union leaders. It was not until two hours later that a temporary truce between picket leaders and Sheriff Elser cleared the streets.

Sheriff Elser said he did not send deputies until the city police, bottled up at the plant gates, called for help. Then Elser dispatched two truckloads of deputies against the mob which had grown to almost 6,000. Tear gas sent the crowds scurrying but they veered back and staged a flank attack on the deputies.

More deputies and police closed in from both sides of Poland avenue to reinforce those blocked at the plant gates and for eight hours the disorder raged on a three-mile front from South avenue bridge to Center street.

When the battle subsided at dawn, Sheriff Elser and Stevenson met at the plant gates and arranged a truce. The sheriff agreed to withdraw his deputies and city police squads and Stevenson agreed to disperse his pickets who still lined up for battle a block away.

all taxpayers who have avoided taxes through unusual methods, although they may be described as "legal avoidance".

Summary rejection of the demand of Rep. Fish (R) of New York, for investigation of the tax returns of President and Mrs. Roosevelt and other prominent persons appeared likely.

Fish, in addition to asking examination of the returns of the President and his wife, urger inquiry into tax returns of two sons and a daughter of the President; Postmaster General Farley, Secretary of the Treasury Morgenthau, WPA Administrator Hopkins, John L. Lewis, CIO leader, and Henry L. Doherty, utilities magnate, who has promoted presidential birthday balls.

"There is nothing personal or vindictive in these charges, as I abhor personalities or abuse and would be the first to help correct misleading statements," said Fish.

FOUR-POWER REPRISALS DEMAND OF GERMANY

garding Spain arising from the asserted attempt to torpedo the German cruiser Leipzig in Spanish waters.

Germany made it clear she expects the four powers patrolling Spain to take quick action as a result of the attempted torpedoing, for which the Reich blamed Spanish Loyalists.

Meanwhile, Britain and France were disturbed by a Russian move, which took the form of a Russian note, which was feared to be an attempt to block action by the four powers.

It was pointed out German Ambassador Joachim von Ribbentrop on Saturday informed the British government that Russia was "trying to provoke Germany."

As a result, the British were wondering about the means underlying the Russian note, which stated:

"Any power represented on the non-intervention committee can at any moment, if it so desires, participate in non-intervention control functions."

Some official circles here feared this might be a hint that the Soviet union might insist upon sending submarines to participate in the control scheme, which is meant to keep foreign volunteers and war materials out of war-torn Spain.

This official business completed, the Soviet airmen were ready to fly to San Francisco—their original goal—later today.

The 580 mile flight down the Pacific coast to San Francisco will be made in the plane which Troyanovsky chartered to speed him here.

At no time during their history-making trip were they in danger, according to Chkalov.

"Ice formed on the wings," he said, speaking through an interpreter to Gen. Marshall.

Chkalov added tersely:

"But we expected that and it soon melted."

Chkalov made a significant gesture with his right hand, indicating the ice was the least of their worries.

HOPE TO END CONGRESS SESSION IN LATE JULY

spurred hopes of an early adjournment.

The July adjournment plan will be submitted to the president when he gathers with his party followers this weekend at a series of peace conferences on Jefferson Island in the Chesapeake. It contemplates an early decision on the president's court bill, even it be an adverse one, and postponing action on new labor and government reorganization legislation until next year.

The president aided this program in the past week by his decision to send no more major legislative proposals to congress at the present session. He was understood to have withheld legislative recommendations on farm relief and to strengthen anti-trust laws.

FAITH
A funeral director working at his profession in order to give a good service must be a professional in several different ways.
First, he must understand how to approach people in sorrow, relieve them of the burdens which necessarily come in time of death. This alone is a profession.
Second, he must be a trained salesman in order not to oversell or undersell the public when they are not in the frame of mind to know just exactly what they want.
Third, he must also be a professional in the work of preparing for the funeral of, and at the same time protecting the public, those who have been placed in his care.
Last, but not least, he must be a professional in the matter of handling crowds and conducting funerals in a quiet, dignified manner. All of these things come from long experience and continual practice of the profession.

The bride's dress was of heaven blue lace, floor length, with short sleeves and a V neckline. Her hat was of the same shade of blue, with a touch of rose for contrast. Roses tied with a huge bow of rose colored satin, formed her bridal bouquet.

Her attendent was Dorothy Davis, a sister, who was attired in rose chiffon, floor length, and she carried blue and rose flowers. Robert McMahon, of Oil City, brother of the groom, was best man.

Father William Galvin officiated at nuptial high mass and single ring service. The altar was decorated for the occasion with a profusion of ferns and garden flowers.

C. bridesmaids, were attired in spring green starched chiffons with applique flowers, green tulle veils with wreaths of daisies, yellow sandals, and carried loose bouquets of yellow daisies which gave the effect of flowers thrown over the arm.

In the party also were the bride's father, who gave her away in the impressive ceremony, and her mother, who wore a melon-colored chiffon dress with white accessories and an orchid corsage.

FALLING BIRTH RATE

FIGURES made public by Secretary of Commerce Roper, showing a declining birth rate and a rising death rate in this country, merit the thoughtful consideration of all Americans.

Roper's statistics reveal that last year the birth rate, 16.6 per thousand of population, was only one-tenth of a point above the all-time low birth rate of 1933. Last year's death rate was 11.5 per thousand of population, a new high.

Birth rates and death rates are of superlative importance to any nation. When births decline and deaths increase, the trend, if continued, is dangerous. No nation with a falling birth rate can maintain progress toward a higher destiny. Since Census Bureau figures indicate that as births drop the death rate increases, the maintenance of a stable birth rate would appear to be a national necessity.

The problem is not pecular to this country. France, Italy, Germany and others have experienced falling birth rates.

It may be that as the United States recovers more generally from the ravages of the economic depression the peril that is inherent in decreasing birth and increasing deaths will pass.

IDEAL VACATION SPOT

Villages so isolated that they were unaware of the World War, and stranded seamen out of touch with civilization so long that they still think ball players wear beards, recur in the news of the world every so often.

Just about the ultimate along these lines, however, has cropped up in a remote section of Guatemala where there is a town whose inhabitants never heard of (1) the Dionne quintuplets, (2) the Lindbergh transatlantic flight, or (3) the Windsor-Wallis Warfield romance. It is probably true, also, that they never heard of (a) Robert Taylor, (b) traffic lights or (c) shorts for women.

What a place (given a trout stream or a bowling alley) for a long vacation!

THE PIANO RECOVERS

The swan song of the piano in the home was sung too soon. The piano is making a comeback that should wring apologies from observers who, with increasing pessimism during depression years, have told how reproduced music has so lowered esteem for the piano that families have abandoned them upon moving. First the phonograph and then the radio were said to have done this music maker of the home to death.

Piano shipments in May were nearly 80 per cent more than during the month last year and shipments for the first five months of 1937, normally dull in the industry, were 20.4 per cent more than in the first half of 1936, with a strong back-log of orders.

Motor car and radio manufacturers introduce progressive new models to stimulate buying and the piano makers may have learned something from that system, but it must be true also that the age-old love for the instrument of Chopin, Liszt, Rubinstein, Rachmaninoff and Paderewski is reawakening.

AIN'T THIS DANDY!

Under the New Deal even party conferences become affairs of the first magnitude. No smoke-filled room will do for its discussion of legislative policy. Behold the forthcoming conference to be held by President Roosevelt and 407 Democratic members of the senate and house. It will be held on Jefferson Island in Chesapeake Bay, secluded from the prying eyes of Wall Street spies and the conniving agents of John Hamilton. It will last three days. As the island club house sleeps only 21, the excursionists will commute from the capital in relays.

Sober second thought, however, counsels against excess enthusiasm. We may all still have work for a living when the conference ends. In his biography of Boies Penrose, Walter Davenport related an anecdote about a Pennsylvania sheriff who was one of the boss's best men. Importuned by reporters to tell what a supposedly important conference was all about, the sheriff replied: "Generally when politicians call a conference, it's because the boys don't know what to do next."

BEES AND AUTOS

"He died of injuries suffered when his auto crashed into a tree while he was trying to brush a bee from the car."

The above, from the news columns, tells a story of what, more or less tragedy, often happens this season of the year when bees are honey gathering.

It is well to remember these few rules if a bee, or any allied stinging insect, enters your car as you are driving:

First, the sting of a bee is not fatal. It doesn't hurt much more than a bite from a mosquito, though the subsequent pain and swelling are somewhat greater. Prompt application of ammonia, bicarbonate or baking soda or even wet mud—anything that is a strong alkali—will, to a great degree, counteract the effect of the acid injected by the bee's sting.

Second, don't get panicky. The bee in your car is just as frightened as you are and more anxious to get out than you are to oust it. The bee buzzes frantically on the windshield. Swatting at it with your hand or handkerchief only fightens it the more. Then in its dartings about it may strike your face and sting.

This needless fear of a simple sting or the swatting which diverts your attention from managing the car may cause a fatal crash.

Third, if a bee gets in your car, steer over to the side of the road. Open both doors. The cross draft of air will carry the bee out or its natural instinct to seek freedom will cause it to fly out. If you feel afraid, after you have opened the doors, get out yourself. The bee will probably fly out before you.

Then you may continue your journey in safety.

The Parent Problem

By Garry C. Myers, Ph. D.

SUMMER MUSIC LESSONS

We parents do queer things. When our children go to school, we pile on all sorts of out-of-school lessons on them, while in summer we have the extra cease simultaneously with the regulars. Even Sunday school and church attendance that may have been regular throughout the school months, often will cease as soon as the school term ends. For those children who leave home during the summer, such, of course, may be necessary. But most children will be home practically all vacation.

Some children are able to carry, during the school year, extra lessons such as those of instrumental music, without undue strain. Yet many who do so only at great cost to their physical and mental health, could greatly profit from such lessons during the summer vacation. When parents are wiser, thousands of children will be having one or two private music lessons a week during the summer, and private music teachers will have their busiest season then. So will private teachers of art, dramatics and tap dancing. I am not very enthusiastic about tap dancing, especially for young children. But if parents must have their children take it (chiefly to show them off) let there be some of it in summer.

After a week or two of vacation, many children grow restless and start roving about, facing physical and moral dangers. Well-directed lessons in the fields suggested need not be a hardship to them, but could actually afford them some enjoyment.

Activities Suggested

There are great possibilities in informal dramatics in the neighborhood where parents will offer guidance and encouragement. Those children, moreover, who have acquired some skill at music in the school orchestra or band could be organized into small music groups in their immediate communities, gaining and giving a vast deal of wholesale pleasure. You and I have seen groups of children from eight to 14 work assiduously for days and days rehearsing a play of their own choice or devising. Perhaps they have written the play and made all the scenery. If they charge a few pennies admission, very well. Let us try to help them to get out a good crowd.

Then there could be small groups of young children, the older ones of whom will read to the younger ones from books borrowed from the public library or in the homes near by. Tremendous possibilities here.

As for Sunday school and church during the summer or any other time, if we want the children to continue going regularly, we shall have to send ourselves with them.

THOUGHTS WHILE APOLOGIZING

IT'S MY FAULT and I apologize. I made a mistake and I'm sorry for it. I forgot my good resolution and made a nickel-plated idiot of myself.

Please accept the apology and shake my hand.

But don't kick me while I'm down. Don't think it's easy for me to admit I've been an idiot. Don't punish me any more than I've punished myself. Go easy, will you?

You've made mistakes, too, perhaps. You've made noble resolutions and then weakened. You know you have . . . And you know how hard it is to speak up and admit you're wrong. You're almost perfect but not entirely so. Try to put yourself in MY place, please.

So don't make me grovel . . . If you do, my regret may turn sour. I might decide it's foolish for me to apologize to one who doesn't know how to accept an apology . . . I'll say things I don't mean. We'll be further apart than we ever were and I'll have a grievance against you where, now, I have only a grievance against myself.

We should be friends again. We should never be anything else . . . Let's forget this misunderstanding, because that's all it ever was. Put out your hand. Let your eyes soften. Make a truce that will be lasting peace. Smile, and I'll smile, too . . . If you let that hard look linger in your eyes, if you try to make a hard bargain with me, if you threaten, if you scold, if you treat me like a slave just because I ask that we be friends again, then what's the gain of my apology? . . . You are no master, I am no servant, we are equals . . . You are proud, I know, and I have hurt that pride. But I am proud, too, and I hurt my own pride when I acted so foolishly.

There! Thank you for your hand and your smile and your friendliness once more . . . What a strong, clean, sweet and fair relief it is to be friends again. Let the lightning flash and the earth tremble and the roof crash over our heads. What do we care? That hurt is past. Our hands are clasped. We are friends!

KEEPING AHEAD

Thrift helps a man to get ahead, and when he gets ahead he has to keep on being thrifty to keep ahead. By thrift the head of a family gets his household in sound condition. His wife dresses as well as any of the neighbor women and the children enjoy the advantages common to their group.

Having achieved so much, it would please the head of the family to relax. He would like to discard his socks when they are darned at both ends. He would enjoy throwing away a tube of toothpaste or shaving cream without squeezing it until his fingers hurt. He would like to refuse to eat food for which he had no appetite.

In short, he would like to do the things that prosperous people do. And he could well afford to be thriftless in these pleasant little things if it were not that every member of his family would construe his indifference to a few pennies as a signal that all financial gates were ajar. The end of the month would find him obligated for hundred of dollars worth of gowns, rugs, furniture, shoes, and steamship tickets.

Upon inquiry he would discover that the reckless splurge was occasioned by his refusal one night to get out of bed to turn off a light in the downstairs hall.

"If you're not interested in saving money, I am certainly not," would be the icy explanation.

DEAR MISS MARKEL—How soon after receipt of a wedding invitation should a gift be sent? How should it be adressed? Should my husband's as well as my card be inclosed with it or do I send the gift inclosing my card only?

ALICE J.

Answer—All those who receive invitations to a wedding reception should send a gift—whether or not they attend. Those invited to the church only and those receiving announcements only need not send a gift.

Send your gift as soon as possible after receipt of the invitation. Since all gifts must be acknowledged immediately by the bride, the early arrival of your gift will save her a last-minute rush of correspondence.

Mail your gift to the bride only—and send it to her present home.

If you and your husband have joint cards, inclose one of these. If you have separate cards only, inclose one of yours and one of his. His name must appear, as the gift must come from both of you.

You may write "with best wishes"—never "congratulations" on your card, but more often such cards bear no message.

The World AND THE Mud Puddles

THOSE MULTITUDINOUS LAWS

E. V. Durling, who took the late Harry Carr's place as a Columnist for the Los Angeles Times, has something to say about the multitude of laws passed by the lawmakers of America:

"In one year in the United States 49,141 laws were proposed and 16,298 enacted. In twenty years 954,625 laws were proposed and 233,563 enacted. Yet it is a fact that ignorance of the law is no excuse. This puts all in a very dangerous situation. Do you know, for instance, it is against the law in Los Angeles for more than one person to bathe in a bathtub at the same time? I'll bet you didn't know this and if I hadn't told you some morning when you and your wife were trying to catch a train you would have both jumped in the bathtub at the same time and might have been arrested for it.

"In an effort to lessen my ignorance of the law I have come across some very interesting illustrations of the workings of the great minds that make our laws for us. The Kansas Legislature, for instance, once passed a law reading, 'When two trains approach each other at a crossing they shall both come to a full stop and neither shall start until the other is gone.' This law seems to give us at least an inkling to the answer of that immortal question, 'What's the matter with Kansas?'

"Lawmakers of the State of Washington passed a law reading, 'It shall be unlawful for sheep to enter any enclosed land other than that of their owner.' A Seattle journalist in commenting on this bit of legislation said: 'This law does not penalize the sheep for their unlawful act, or even require the law be read to the sheep, which goes to show that we have, in the opinion of our legislators, an unusually up-to-date and law-abiding variety of sheep in the State of Washington; the presumption being that our sheep keep posted on the law, and will in the future ask the consent of the owner of the lands upon which they graze before going thereon.'

"Continuing study of the great minds of the men who make our laws let us consider case of a member of the Los Angeles City Council who introduced a bill calling for prohibiting the eating of meat before 11 o'clock in the morning. This lawmaker stated one great cause of domestic unhappiness was quarrels at the breakfast table; these quarrels, he said, were due to the eating of meat too early in the day. Hence his bill. In Georgia, a legislator introduced a bill making it a ground for annulment of marriage if the woman had induced proposal 'by artificial means, false hair or rouge.' While the introduction of this bill was, and has since been greatly ridiculed, I am inclined to see something in it. For instance, a man marries what he thinks a beautiful red-haired woman with a figure of the Venus De Milo. And then the poor wretch discovers the beautiful hair and important parts of the gorgeous figure are artificial and removable. I think the man is definitely a victim of false pretenses and should have the unqualified assistance in his plight of the laws of our land.

Begone, you shouting shrieking lad!

Said Crankmire then: "If I were you

Tests prove the thorough lather that stops "B.O." is 20% milder

MILLIONS of women who began the use of Lifebuoy to stop "B.O." found the lather so mild they now depend on it for complexion care, too. And it does a beautiful job of freshening, clearing the skin, bringing out its natural beauty... Tests on all types of women's skins—dry, oily, medium—prove Lifebuoy is over 20% milder than many so-called "beauty soaps" and "baby soaps."

More American women use Lifebuoy for the bath than any other soap ... It's equally the favorite of men and children... This fact was revealed when 8 leading magazines questioned 120,000 women.

Legion Is Not Active In Strike

Statement Issued By Commander Walter J. Kress Is Received Here

REFUSE TO TAKE SIDES IN ISSUE

In a statement received by Commander David Tobin, of the Perry S. Gaston Post, American Legion, from Walter J. Kress, State Commander, exception is taken to the inference that the American Legion is taking sides in the strike now in progress in Johnstown.

The statement of Mr. Kress follows:

"Attempts are being made to use the American Legion as an organization in the steel strike now in progress in Johnstown.

"The only statement made by any officer of the Johnstown Post, or any Legionnaire in authority was that of Post Commander L. A. Sheehan to the effect that 'when and as if constituted peace authorities break down, the Legion stands ready to maintain law and order.'

"The Commander was correct in this statement since to 'maintain law and order' is one of the cardinal purposes of the American Legion, as set forth in the preamble of its constitution.

"The American Legion has never, nor does it now, take sides in any differences between capital and labor. We must not, nor do we intend to, go beyond the principles for which our organization has been founded.

"If any happen to be deputized by the constituted law enforcement authorities, they have taken or will take this action voluntarily as citizens. If in carrying out such duties as citizens, they wear any Legion caps or any other insignia identifying them as Legionnaires, they are doing so without authority, and are subjecting themselves to disciplinary action."

When the road is completed it will serve to by-pass Pittsburgh-Erie through traffic, doing away with necessity of passing through Meadville and shortening the distance by several miles.

William Cook Bailey, 84, who learned to ride a bicycle five years ago, is pedaling his way from his home town, Underhill, Vt., to Detroit and Chicago. "Out to reach Chicago in 10 or 12 days if I have any luck," he told friends.

The youngest alcoholic cases ever treated at Citizens General hospital of New Kensington were received last week when two little girls, sisters, aged nine and six, were hurried there after they had consumed a large quantity of whisky taken from a parked automobile. Hosptal attendants used a stomach pump to rid them of the liquor and after several hours they were able to return to their homes. Attendants said they were in the final stages of intoxication when admitted.

A rod-riding hen has arrived in Aneroid, Sask., Canada, from nobody knows where. Passengers of a train halting there were amazed to see a hen leap from the undercarriage of a coach. Dazed and bedraggled, she looked around and then pattered off to scratch up a meal.

That Martin Sullivan murder trial has cost Allegheny county plenty. County commissioners shook their heads sadly, then shrugged their shoulders helplessly last week as they approved payment of bills totaling $900 for services of two psychiatrists who testified. Dr. C. H. Henninger submitted a bill for $500 for "examinations, conferences and expert testimony", while Dr. George J. Wright is contenting himself with $400. This is only a small part of the trial's actual cost.

Ambridge Strike Brought To End

More Than 1,900 Workers Go Back To National Electric Products Company

(International News Service)

AMBRIDGE, Pa., June 21.—Ending a 19-day violence-scarred strike, 1,900 employes returned to work today at the National Electric Products company plant pending a decision by the national labor relations board on which of three union organizations shall be recognized as the collective bargaining agency.

Local 609 of the United Electrical & Radio Workers, a C.I.O. affiliate, called the strike when the company granted a contract to the International Brotherhood of Electrical Workers, an A. F. of L. union. Meanwhile an independent union was also organized at the plant.

Record Crowds At East New Castle

Calvary Tabernacle Brings Overflowing Crowds To Sunday Services

Sunday was in a number of ways the greatest day in the brief history of Calvary Gospel Tabernacle in East New Castle. No services of the kind have ever been so largely attended as the four uplifting services held in the tabernacle yesterday.

More extra chairs were used at the Sunday evening meeting than in any previous time at the tabernacle. Many places such as New Brighton, Beaver Falls, Butler, Ellwood, Johnstown and Akron, O., were represented in the overflowing crowd.

Four profitable gospel messages were given during morning, afternoon and evening by Rev. John Carrera, one of America's leading youthful evangelists, on the following subjects in the order given: "Living for Christ, Is the Bible the Word of God?" Scripture Memorization—How and Why? and Enemies of Youth or Things That Keep Us From God.

Services will be conducted each evening this week at 7:30 and three times next Sunday, with Rev. Carrera being heard at every service.

Week-End At Camp For Business Girls

Delightful Time At Camp East Brook For Forty Young Women

The business girls' week end at Camp East Brook proved to be very enjoyable and attracted a crowd of forty young women from the New Castle Y. W. C. A. and those of Pittsburgh, Oil City, Titusville and Meadville.

Miss Mary O'Connor, district representative of Y. W. C. A. business girls' clubs, was there from Pittsburgh Sunday and talked to the assemblage of the conference at Wells college, July 24 to 31, at which New Castle will be represented, and of the fall conference in New Castle in October. Mrs. Mildred Porter is the chairman of arrangements for the latter, assisted by Miss Nadyne Conner, secretary and treasurer, and Mrs. Rose Sacripant Mooney, registrar.

The swimming pool, recently filled, was used during the recreational periods. Badminton and other games, and some handcraft, were enjoyed.

New Legislation To Be Drafted On Mail Deliveries

(International News Service)

WASHINGTON, June 21.—Declaring "the mail shall go through," a bi-partisan bloc of the senate post office committee today drafted legislation to compel forcible delivery of the mails on all occasions, even to strike bound plants in the steel areas.

The legislation was proposed by Senators Bridges (R) of New Hampshire, and Bailey (D) of North Carolina, as the committee investigated charges of alleged censorship of the mails at Republic Steel Corporation plants at Warren, Niles and Youngstown, Ohio.

They will discuss it with Postmaster General Farley when he appears before the committee to answer the charges of alleged censorship agreements between the postmasters in the Ohio cities and officials of the Committee for Industrial Organization.

Courts remain old-fashioned. The crier crys, "Oh, yez; oh yez; oh yez!" instead of "Listen."

STATE POLICE ARE IN CONTROL AT JOHNSTOWN

tantly complied with the governor's edict. Normally the company employs 15,000 men.

Although the city seethed with an undercurrent of excitement due to the dramatic developments of the past 48 hours, military rule was proceeding smoothly and there were no signs of disorder. The state police operated quietly and efficiently. They permitted no congregating of crowds and blockaded the plants.

Divided On Action.

Union leaders hailed the action of Governor Earle in closing the mills as a victory. David Watkins, CIO strike leader, declared that "now, at least, we know peace is here and that the lives and welfare of the people and workers of Johnstown are secure."

Resentment of the governor's action was expressed by company officials, by Mayor Daniel J. Shields whose authority was superseded, by certain civic leaders and by some of the community's business men.

C. R. Elicott, manager of Bethlehem's plants which stretch along a seven-mile front, conferred with Col. A. S. Janeway, commander of the 500 helmeted state troopers now on duty, and left the colonel a copy of a letter in which he said:

"I hereby notify you that we will submit to the order of Governor Earle. We do so, however, only under duress and by reason of the action taken by you. We reserve all rights and remedies which we may have to use in any manner of relief against enforcement of said order and for any damages we may suffer by reason thereof."

Mayor's Statement.

Mayor Shields, whose vigilantes were ordered by the military to be disarmed and disbanded, asserted he felt that his freedom of speech and freedom of action had been usurped.

"Governor Earle is king," he said. "He has put Colonel Janeway in control of a city over which I was elected mayor. Colonel Janeway is in the saddle now and I'm out.

"I shall merely keep my present status until communism and anarchy are firmly established in Johnstown. I can only wait and see how the situation will turn out."

The Rev. David K. Allen, pastor of the First Presbyterian church, announced his congregation had adopted a petition urging Governor Earle to re-open the plant.

"It is our conviction," Rev. Allen asserted, "that the great majority of the workers are satisfied with wages and conditions at Bethlehem Steel and want to work. Our troubles are fostered from the outside. Every member of my congregation who is employed at the plant is eager to return to his job."

Lawrence W. Campbell, secretary of the chamber of commerce, said:

"This move of the governor's and the state is not according to Hoyle. They are dealing from the bottom of the deck."

Sheriff Is Glad

Sheriff Michael J. Boyle of Cambria county said he was glad Governor Earle had "restored peace and quiet." It was under Sheriff Boyle's report that troubled seemed imminent that the governor issued his martial law edict.

The sheriff feared the threatened march of 40,000 or more miners for a Sunday meeting in Johnstown would precipitate bloodshed. After the governor had declared martial law, John L. Lewis, head of the committee for industrial organization, called off the union rally.

Strikers who had been picketing the 14 gates of the mills in this area were ordered by Watkins to leave their posts. They promptly obeyed the instructions of the local strike leader.

After Manager Ellicott of the steel company had conferred with Colonel Janeway and Attorney General Charles J. Margiotti, who was sent here by the governor to advise Janeway, local heads of the mills ordered their employes to leave the plants.

It was the first time in the history of the state, according to Margiotti that state police had been brought into a strike area and closed an entire industry.

"The only thing I am interested in is the peace of this community", he stated.

Maintenance Men At Plant

State police permitted men to pass out of the plants but would not allow any to enter except those who belonged to the maintenance crews. Colonel Janeway assured company officials the maintenance men will be allowed to enter and leave. Had the maintenance men not been allowed to remain in the plants, furnaces would have gone out and resumption of work would be delayed for days after the controversy is settled.

The company was still in a fighting mood. Its officials did not drop the slightest hint of acceding to the demand of the union that it recognize the CIO. This is the one and only issue of the strike-union recognition.

A survey of the plants this morning showed three or four troopers pacing back and forth at the gates leading to each mill. The pickets, so numerous for days past, were absent, everything was orderly.

Troopers quietly patrolled the the streets of Johnstown. The state police were in evidence in the lobbies of the main hotels. The dining room of one was converted into a barrack room mess hall for the troopers.

Vigilantes Disarm

Vigilantes, complying with orders issued by the military, came to city hall one by one and in small groups and surrendered the pistols and guns which had been supplied to them so they could protect "loyal" employes in the back to work movement which had been growing locally at the time Governor Earle issued his martial law order.

Mayor Shields had formed an organization of more than 1,000 vigilantes. It was the steady growth of the vigilantes which brought about the threat of the 40,000 miners to march on Johnstown.

Despite the existence of martial law no military lines were drawn anywhere in the city. Newspaper reporters found that their ordinary police cards were the only credentials needed.

Colonel Janeway and staff set up headquarters at the Fort Stanswix Hotel. There business was settled diplomatically yet firmly.

Electrical Storm Hits Lake Region, Many Saved From Drowning

(International News Service)

DETROIT, June 21.—Swept off Lake Michigan by a 60-mile gale, an electrical storm today left nine persons dead and an unestimated amount of damage.

Three men and a woman, thrown into the storm-tossed Lake Huron when a squall overturned their small boat, were rescued by three men who raced to the scene in rowboats.

Coast guardsmen searched Lake Erie for the 41-foot sailboat "LaSalle" on which three women and four men were sailing to Toledo. The boat left here yesterday morning.

Two villages, Brooklyn and Hanover, were isolated when trees blocked all highways.

Nearly half the persons served in Jackson, Hillsdale, Branch and Calhoun counties by Consumers Power were left without electricity during the night as power lines were torn down by the storm.

FELT JUST AS TIRED IN A. M. AS WHEN HE WENT TO BED

Nutwood Farmer Suffered From Indigestion, Gas In Stomach, Bloating, Felt Nauseated At Times, Had A Coated Tongue And Bad Taste In Mouth, Due To Constipation. Declares Vendol Made Him Feel Like A New Man.

MR. G. C. BUSHNELL

According to the statement of Mr. G. C. Bushnell, the prosperous farmer of Nutwood, Ohio, near this city, Vendol relieved him of many troubles that have kept him feeling miserable all during the winter and spring. Read what he said to the Vendol Man and you will realize what Vendol will do for you if you are suffering the same way. Mr. Bushnell says:

"Vendol gave me such a thorough cleansing and invigorating action that I feel like a different person from what I did a few weeks ago. I would get up in the morning feeling as tired as when I went to bed. My tongue was coated, breath was foul, had a nasty taste in my mouth and felt dizzy.

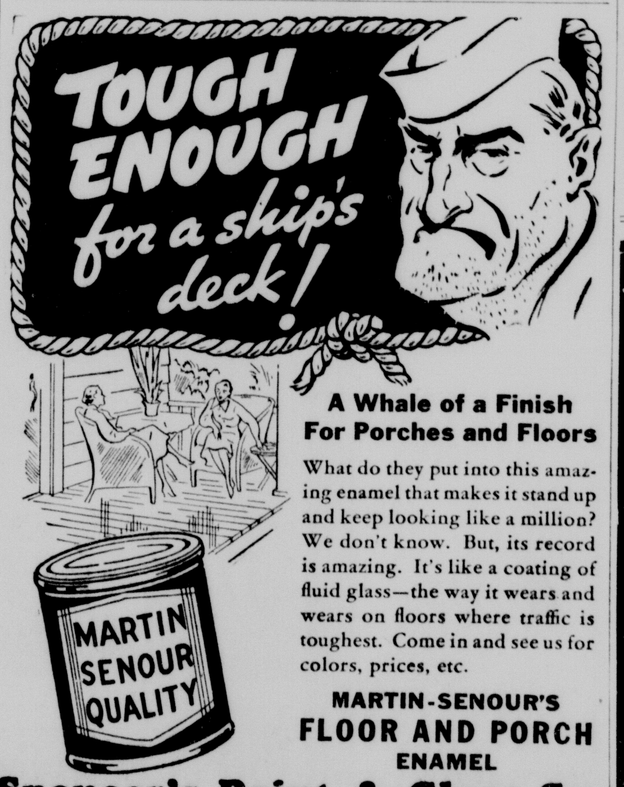

"I suffered a lot from sour stomach, gas, cramps and nausea. I often had heartburn, acid risings and belched up a sour, burning liquid. I'm sure all of my troubles came from allowing myself to be constipated.

"I had tried various remedies but without much success, but one day I read about a man suffering like I did who said Vendol did him world's of good so I decided to try Vendol. I'm happy that I did because it gave prompt relief from my constipation and then all my troubles were relieved. I feel years younger since taking Vendol and only wish I had found it sooner."

That is the experience of everyone who takes Vendol. They find it acts so pleasantly and gives such gratifying relief they are sorry they waited so long to try it.

If you suffer this way, do not put off getting Vendol, the famous medicine made from 12 of Nature's Roots and Herbs combined with Valuable Alkalines and you will be delighted with results.

The Vendol Man at New Castle Drug Co., 31 E. Washington St. invites you to come and let him explain all about how this medicine acts to give such marvelous relief and hear how it will help you. Vendol is also sold by the New Castle Drug at 24 N. Mill St. and all leading druggists everywhere.

WASHINGTON AT A GLANCE

Democrats To Meet This Week

President Will Gather With Congress Members On Jefferson Island

NEWSPAPER MEN HAVE BEEN BARRED

Central Press
Washington Bureau
602 Times-Herald Bldg.

By CHARLES P. STEWART
Central Press Columnist

WASHINGTON, June 21.—It will be a few days after President Roosevelt's confab (June 24, 25 and 26) with congressional Democrats, on Jefferson island, in Chesapeake bay, before news begins to leak out in much detail.

There will be plenty of leakage eventually, however.

Of senators and representatives there are 407 Democrats on Capitol Hill. The minute it was announced that the Jefferson island outing was planned it was evident that there would be few absentees from the succession of three all-day parties—the attendance being in relays because the insular clubhouse hasn't facilities to entertain 407 guests at once.

If the president ever imagined that there can be much secrecy about such a gathering of that size (plus himself, most of his cabinet members and a handful of miscellaneous politicians), he is a deal more unsophisticated than anyone supposed.

Of course he had no such notion when he barred newspapermen from his invitation list.

(The nearest the press can get to the island is Annapolis, on the mainland.)

Undoubtedly he knew that at least 406 of his guest-legislators will come ashore simply bursting to tell every bit of everything they have seen and heard.

Quite likely he picked an island for the affair with a view to making it extra-mysterious; therefore all the better advertised.

WHAT EFFECT?

This is all right on the supposition that the thing is going to be a political love-feast, winding up with all intra-party differences forgotten and a pleasant ending of the current congressional session assured.

But it will take a week or two to reveal whether or not the discussions are to be as delightful as all that.

There will be no ugly incidents to record, to be sure. Four hundred and seven socially well-behaved law makers don't go week-ending at a club to raise "rough house".

Nevertheless, they can go as opponents of the administration's program and return as unreconciled as before.

Yet maybe not. President Roosevelt has a marvelously persuasive personality. His visitors will be flattered. He may prove to have made a lot of converts, not reckoning the legislators who were on his side already.

When congress gets back to work afterwards, we'll see:

Will that blowout, on a "desert island", politically take, from the administration's standpoint? Or will it be resultless, except as a social event?

EXPEDIENT

It is a remarkable expedient, in any case.

It just goes to show how violently the Democratic party is rent asunder.

All it is is a NAME. An element within it has been discussing, recently, a union with Republicans on certain administration policies.

Republican-Democrats and Democratic-Republicans could effect mergers on certain questions.

There's a third, mixed group, too.

"NAMELESS" PARTIES

Old-line politicians try to stick to the original labels.

I wouldn't exactly call President Roosevelt an old-line politician.

Still, he seems to like to stick to the Democratic label, whether it signifies anything Democratic or otherwise.

Hence his conference—on an island—to try to make it good.

The Republicans (what there are left of them) are quite as badly shot to pieces as the Democrats.

They don't seem to be because they are so scarce, but they are.

There still are two parties, but neither one has a name.

Which new party is in a majority and which is in a minority, it is impossible to tell until they align. And they can't align because of confusion as to their names.

East Siders Plan Annual Picnic

Plans for the annual East Side Community and Merchants Picnic were announced today by Carl W. Haufler, general chairman of the day. The picnic will be held in Cascade Park on Wednesday afternoon and evening, July 21, and if the day attracts as many as it did the past two years the affair will be a success.

Merchants, organizations and individual citizens are co-operating with General Chairman Haufler and his committees towards the end that the day may be the success it should be. The stores will close for the afternoon and on that day the East Side invites the world to celebrate with it.

Meeting Called

To facilitate the work of the committees a meeting has been called for Wednesday evening June 28, in the Third U. P. church at which time all committee men and all East Siders interested are asked to attend.

A contest that will interest all boys and girls between the ages of 13 and 17 has been arranged and the youngsters interested are asked to register at the store of C. B. Hennon on East Washington street on or before Wednesday evening, June 23.

The program of the day will include races, free dancing, bingo, swimming, horse shoe pitching, ball games, and a picnic supper in the grove. Some valuable gifts will also be distributed.

The committees announced by Mr. Haufler today follow:

Full Crew Law Is Under Attack

Twenty-Two Carriers Have Filed Legal Action To Halt Law's Operation

(International News Service)

HARRISBURG, June 21.—The Earle administration today marshalled its legal forces to defend its recently enacted full crew law, to be attacked again in Dauphin county court.

Twenty-two carriers, seeking either to restrain the state from enforcing the act or attacking its constitutionality, have filed action. The court issued a temporary injunction shortly following Gov. George H. Earle's signing the bill which provides for added manpower on trains of various lengths.

The law, one of the most controversial enacted by the 132nd legislature, has been one of the Earle administration "hot potatoes".

Passed as a safety measure, although it was also intended to increase employment, the law was to be given another hearing today to determine whether or not the restraining order should be continued.

AROUND CITY HALL

Rains almost daily for the past several weeks has hampered city-WPA projects and if it continues it may not be possible to get so very far with the B paving program. Work has started on several streets but every time it rains the workers are forced home. Sumner avenue appears to be a nice job.

Street department officials have requested automobile owners to not park their cars on paved streets in the business district between 12 midnight Tuesday and 6 a. m. Wednesday and 12 midnight Friday and 6 a. m. Saturday. It makes street sweeping difficult. Ordinances prohibit parking of cars during the time that the sweeper operates.

EYES ARE A WORKER'S BEST HELP

No good worker would use dull tools. He knows that for quick, efficient work his tools must respond instantly and accurately to his bidding. And he knows, too, that defective tools mean danger.

His eyes are the most important of a worker's tools. They must direct his every action. Upon them depends the quickness and accuracy of his work. If his eyes are slow of vision, his actions are slow. If their vision is distorted, his work will not be sure or accurate.

Every worker owes it to himself and his family to know the condition of his eyes—not "guess they're all right." Good eyes spell success from every point of view. Tomorrow is a good time to have them checked.

ANOTHER CHANGE IN GOV. EARLE'S CABINET

Howe Succeeds J. D. Pennington

Becomes Secretary Of Welfare As Pennington Returns To Huntingdon

SECOND CHANGE IN PAST TWO WEEKS

(International News Service)

HARRISBURG, June 21.—Gov. George H. Earle's cabinet today was to undergo its second change in two weeks with Budget Secretary Arthur W. Howe succeeding Commander John D. Pennington as secretary of welfare.

Pennington announced his resignation Saturday to devote all his time to his "first love"—the Pennsylvania Industrial School at Huntingdon, of which he is superintendent.

His successor, Howe, was recently elevated to the budget directorship to fill the vacancy when Congressman Cuy Swope was elected to office. The chief executive told newspapermen last night he had "not given serious thought" as to Howe's successor in the budget office.

Last week, J. Griffith Boardman took over the portfolio of Secretary of Revenue John B. Kelly.

The change, to become effective June 30, was the second to take place in the welfare department, Commander Pennington having succeeded Dr. J. E. Scheehle, now Delaware county coroner.

GRADE CROSSINGS BEING REMOVED

State Is Pushing Campaign For Traffic Safety—Federal Funds Aid

By ARTHUR C. WIMER
(Special Washington Correspondent, New Castle News)

WASHINGTON, D. C., June 21.—The task of making Pennsylvania highway's safer through the elimination of railroad grade crossings with Federal relief money is going forward satisfactorily, according to the United States Bureau of Public Roads.

Federal money for carrying on this safety work totaling $11,483,613 was allocated the Keystone State. Of this amount, $2,256,542 has been spent on projects already complete. Completed projects include 37 grade crossing eliminations through separation or relocation, reconstruction of nine grade crossings, and protection of nine crossings with signals.

An additional $7,594,504 has been obligated by projects under construction and $968,128 for projects approved for construction. This leaves an unobligated balance of $911,216 available for new projects. The projects under construction include elimination of 39 crossings through separation or relocation and reconstruction of structures at 11 crossings.

Cost of such projects completed and under construction has been greater in Pennsylvania than any other state save New York.

Cards Win Two And Move Up In Pennant Battle

St. Louis Knocking At First Place Door, Cubs Are Leading At Present

INDIANS SPLIT WITH BOSTON

By LAWTON CARVER
International News Service Sports Writer

NEW YORK, June 21.—With Dizzy Dean and Lon Warneke coming through as expected out on the pitching mound in that bitter National league pennant race, the St. Louis Cardinals today had moved up into second place in the National league standings and were in position to overtake the leading Chicago Cubs on a moment's notice.

The Cards may never attain that exalted position, for the Cubs are playing some baseball on their own account to hold down the top by a game and the New York Giants are in third place by only four percentage points behind the Cards, but Dean and Warneke may even win the pennant.

Dizzy won his 10th victory against five defeats and Warneke his eighth with two losses yesterday, their total of victories being more than half needed by the gas housers to make that climb into second place. They really squelched the Boston Bees, who made only nine hits in the twin bill.

Cards Win Two

Warneke allowed four hits in taking the opener by 6 to 2 and Dean gave up five in his nightcap win by 9 to 1.

The Giants meanwhile were struggling to a 4 to 3 victory over the Cincinnati Reds to advance a notch on the Cubs, who were beaten by the Philadelphia Phillies, 6 to 5.

Big things are going on in the American league as well. The New York Yankees attracted 68,939 customers to the stadium yesterday and before that gathering—biggest for any baseball park this season—beat the Chicago White Sox twice, 8 to 4, 7 to 4, with a home run barrage. Selkirk belted a pair, and Gehrig, DiMaggio and Dickey added one each.

White Sox Drop

That shoved the White Sox still deeper into third place, and gave the Detroit Tigers a firmer hold on second, the Tigers trimming the Philadelphia Athletics, 6 to 3 and 8 to 1.

In other American league games yesterday, Boston beat Cleveland, 5 to 2, then lost, 8 to 7; Washington trimmed St. Louis, 5 to 3.

In the National, Pittsburgh won from the Dodgers, 4 to 2, then lost by the same score in reverse.

RUSSOS WIN GAME

The Russos walloped the Marcellas 30 to 11, the winners scoring heavily in every inning. The Russos used La Vecchio on the mound. The Russos will play the Ross A. C. today in a league game (weather permitting.) The Russos have won 23 games and lost but two this year.

Dempsey Picks Jim Braddock To Beat Louis

Both Men Will Be Under 200 Pounds By Fight Time On Tuesday Night

ODDS SHORTENED ON JOE LOUIS

By CLAIR KELLY
International News Service Sports Writer

CHICAGO, June 21—Despite some lingering and weighty hotel lobby debates about how helpless he is and will be against a righthand smash aimed at his round brown jaw, Joe Louis today rates from 2 to 2½ to 1 over Jimmy Braddock as the Loop swelled to the city's first heavyweight championship congress in ten years.

The betting on tomorrow night's 15-round titular battle in Comiskey park has been light, but the conversation hasn't. It's one of the most uncertain quarrels for the big title to analyze in many a moon.

Braddock Looks Good.

Braddock has been unbelievably good in his training performances.

And even as late as last night a group of experts left rainy Kenosha shaking their heads in grave doubt after seeing Joe belted around a bit by one Tiger Hairston, propeling a few swift rights into the challenger's chin.

This was the theme today as the defending Braddock and the chocolate challenger packed up to abandon their Grand Beach and Kenosha camps, respectively, and special trains moved on Chicago from New York, San Francisco and points between. Among those already on the scene as spectators are a couple of well-to-do citizens named Dempsey and Tunney.

Dempsey it was who started heavyweight congresses such as this one when he roared along to the peak and had people paying millions to see him. And it was the two of them who supplied Chicago's last heavyweight titular frenzy.

Dempsey Picks Braddock.

Dempsey is picking Braddock to retain the crown he won in his Cinderella man saga over Max Baer.

When they go to the scales tomorrow noon in the special weighing-in ceremony arranged at the auditorium theatre, the champion is expected to show 196 or 195 pounds—and a well-conditioned frame it will be, for the Jersey veteran has attained a physical trimness that few believed he could achieve after two years away from the ring, and at his age, 32.

Louis At 198.

Louis is expected to scale just under 200 pounds—probably 198.

Trainer Jack Blackburn realizes that the Brown Bomber has no business weighing more than 200. His best fights were made as he ranged upward from 190. He was at 196 when he routed massive Carnera. His weight for the Schmeling upheaval was 198, but for his last bout, with Natie Brown at Kansas City, Joe was a flabby Bomber at 206.

On the side of physical condition, the challenger perhaps has never been at a sharper edge than for his bid on his part for the game's highest glory.

Braddock's splendid condition, particularly the appearance and spring of his legs, has been amazing to camp visitors.

Rifle Club To Eat Spaghetti

The New Castle Rifle Club members will have a spaghetti supper on Thursday night at 6:30 o'clock at the corner of Division and South Mill street. The winning team in the inter-club shoot was captained by Dr. Hockenberry.

Dr Hockenberry's team was known as the Hot-Heads and was composed of Dr. Hockenberry, Leo W. Hill, Hunter, McKeown, Cooper, Reynolds and Allen.

The losing teams will banquet the winning team once each month during the summer. The club members are asked to meet at the Cathedral at 6:15 o'clock.

There will not be a shoot at the Cathedral range tonight on account of the Consistory reunion.

Games Tuesday In City Loop

Four Games Will Be Played, West Pittsburg Leads, Race Tightening Up

Four games are scheduled to be played Tuesday in the City Baseball league. The games will start at six o'clock.

The league-leading West Pittsburg team will engage the South Side Board of Trade revamped team at the West Pittsburg diamond. Manager Danny DeGenova has Tonsetic and Braky for mound duty. The South Side team, under Manager Joseph "Dudie" Fruitt, recently named to succeed Scaglione, will have Dory Gunnett and Badurik ready to pitch against the league leaders.

Firemen vs. Ryantown

The feature game in New Castle will send the Sixth Ward Firemen to Ryantown for a battle. Manager Bill Gall will shove Farrell or Huston into the game; maybe Dick Witherow, and Manager Joe Samuels will counter with Paul Coates. The Ryantowns want a little revenge for the two setbacks at the hands of the Firemen this year.

Lawrence Indies will meet the Colored Elks under a new manager now, at the Rosena field. Manager Zidow will use Balla on the knoll, and the Elks will counter with Homer Gray.

Mahonings vs. Pulaskis

Mahoning A. A. will go to the Glasser field to oppose the K. Pulaski team, with Manager Maslyk having his ace, "Cab" Mrozek, ready to face the invaders from the seventh ward. Manager Orlando has Russo in shape for pitching duties.

The fans are warming up nicely to the City League, with at least six teams fighting it out for the first half pennant. The crowds at the various games speak well for the enthusiasm that is being shown by the fans and fannettes.

Hulme May Go To Pitt As Trainer

Announcement is made in Pittsburgh that Jack Hulme, the veteran Westminster College trainer is being mentioned to take the vacant post in the Pitt Athletic department left by Dr. "Bud" Moore.

Hulme has had many years of experience with athletes at the United Presbyterian school and will be well qualified to handle the job at Pitt. He is well known and recognized for his work throughout the Tri-State district. One of the boosters for Hulme is R. X. "Bob" Graham, former Westminster College publicity director and now filling a similiar job at the University of Pittsburgh.

HERE AND THERE IN SPORTS' LAND

George Chip, former middleweight champion of the world, picks James J. Braddock to successfully defend his heavyweight title when he meets Joe Louis at Chicago, Tuesday night.

"Braddock is a fighter of the 'Old School,' a fighter like some of the boys I fought, namely, Jimmie Clabby, the Gibbons, Mike, Tom; Eddie McGoorty and the Dancing Master, Ahearn," said Chip.

"I fought all of them and why didn't I knock 'em out? Because they knew I could explode dynamite in any round, the first, twelfth, sixteenth or twentieth and though I kept after them they kept away from me.

"Braddock is of their type and when he crawls into the ring at Chicago I expect to hear of him tantalizing Joe, telling him things that sooner or later will rile Louis' temper.

"In the meanwhile Braddock, smart and cagey and a fairly good right hand puncher with a good left will keep moving. All the time Braddock I expect will be popping Louis, regardless of what Trainer Jack Blackburn says."

Jess Willard, who won the heavyweight championship of the world from Jack Johnson and who will attend the fight would like to see Braddock win and believes he has a chance to win the decision if the bout goes 15 rounds.

Jimmie Dime, manager of Chip in his titular days says Louis ought to win unless it is true that Louis is slow as training reports claim. Dime says that if Louis is in good condition he should beat Braddock easily.

Tom McMahon says it is a toss-up for a knockout but if the fight goes 15 rounds Braddock will win the decision.

The writer believes that if there is a knockout Louis will win but if the bout goes 15 rounds Braddock will be given the decision.

Expect 70,000 At Big Fight

Believe That Braddock-Louis Gate Will Touch Near To Million Dollar Mark

FANS POURING INTO CHICAGO

By CHESTER YOULL
International News Service Sports Writer

CHICAGO, June 21—Boxing fans from all points of the country were pouring into Chicago today for the 15-round world's heavyweight championship battle between James J. Braddock and Joe Louis at Comiskey Park tomorrow night.

Scenes in the loop brought back memories of the extravagant days of 1927 when Gene Tunney defeated Jack Dempsey before more than 100,000 persons at Soldier Field. Hotels were crowded to overflowing and night clubs reported a sharp return in their business.

Many Newspapermen

Approximately 400 newspapermen, several from Euprope, had checked into fight headquarters at the Hotel Morrison, the greatest collection according to Promoter Michael Jacobs, ever to turn out for a prize fight.

Tunney and Dempsey, themselves, incidentally, were among the fans to arrive yesterday.

Estimates today were that between 70,000 and 80,000 persons would pay between $750,000 and $1,000,000 to see the contest.

Jacobs reported he already has $700,000 in reservations. How much bigger the gate will swell will depend on the rush over the last 24 hours and the weather.

Correct This Sentence: "I knew that rich stuff would give me indigestion," said she, "so I didn't eat it."

That is, nobody will be allowed to starve unless the Congressman for his district refuses to obey orders.

KALTENBORN EDITS THE NEWS

HE GAMBLED ON TIRES... AND LOST!

Read H. V. KALTENBORN'S Version of What Happened to a Beechhurst, New York, Motorist

IT WAS nearing 2 P. M. The Whitestone Road was thick with a fast-moving stream of motorists. But Mr. Mitchell of Beechhurst, New York, scarcely saw them. All he had were visions of an hour in the dentist's chair. He could almost hear the bz-zz-zz of the drill when, suddenly, he heard something he was least expecting—BANG! A blow-out! The car bolted off the road. Mitchell sat helpless at the wheel. With a lunge, he grabbed for the emergency brake. But it was too late. A telegraph pole put a stop to the wild ride, leaving Mr. Mitchell with a crumpled car bumper—and plenty of regrets.

H. V. KALTENBORN

Motorists seldom realize until they have a blow-out that when the accelerator goes down, the heat inside the tire goes up. That's why Goodrich engineers developed the Life-Saver Golden Ply which is found in all Silvertowns. This exclusive Goodrich invention is a layer of special rubber and full-floating cords, scientifically treated to resist the terrific blowout-causing heat generated inside all tires by today's high speeds. By resisting this internal tire heat, the Life-Saver Golden Ply protects you against those dangerous, high-speed blow-outs.

It didn't take Mr. Mitchell long to equip his car with these Golden Ply Silvertowns. Remember, it's better to be safe than sorry! Don't delay. Come in today for a set of these life-saving tires. They cost less than other super-quality tires.

*Prices subject to change without notice.

Davis Walsh Picks Louis

Says "Braddock Couldn't Fight Ten Years Ago And Is No Better Now"

THINKS LOUIS IS TOO STRONG

By DAVIS J. WALSH
International News Service Sports Editor

CHICAGO, June 21.—This is going to be a bit hilarious, the day before the Braddock-Louis prize fight for the heavyweight championship of the world, but the fact is that everybody seems to be in a conspiracy to make Louis look like a bum.

Moreover, speaking of bums, there is nothing like the gate receipts, which I'm assured won't top $500,000, thus making bums out of so many a bum, who wished to make the promoters look good.

The promoters naturally are obsessed with the idea of making Louis look bad. Therefore, yesterday, one round was cut to two minutes and another to one minute and 20 seconds while the boys remained agog and aghast. They said Louis looked like the worst bum in the world, overlooking the fact that he's going to meet the worst bum in the world.

The real tip on Braddock is he wasn't much good ten years ago, but we're now expected to believe that he is greatly improved.

Silly Bet

Personally I saw one bet of 3 to 10 on Braddock and I thought it was pretty silly. I doubt as a matter of fact whether Braddock would make the same bet himself. It seems to be that kind of a prize fight, namely no excitement, no betting, no scandal, no nothing.

Speaking of scandal, it is odd that among the referees named are Dave Miller and Phil Collins. Ten years ago Dave Miller and Phil Collins were among the leading referees nominated for the Tunney-Dempsey fight here.

Miller as a matter of fact was all proped up to go in the ring with the boys that night, but the Illinois boxing commission decided otherwise, Collins never was figured seriously any more than he is today.

Louis Too Strong

All right, we'll get back on Louis. He may have had to had rounds cut short yesterday, but he still must have enough left to knock out a guy who was heaved out of a ring not more than four years ago. In other words, I don't care whether Louis can fight or not. I know perfectly well that Braddock can't. He never could.

I think it would be swell if he could. There's something about the guy that makes you like him and want him to win.

San Romani Is Winner Of Mile

Don Lash Is Beaten by Eyelash In Mile Race At New York Saturday

By PAT ROBINSON
International News Service Sports Writer

NEW YORK, June 21.—Track experts today are almost unanimous in their opinion that Don Lash of Indiana university is the greatest miler in the world—from his neck down.

They are also in general agreement that if there is a potential four-minutes miler on earth today his name is Don Lash, rather than San Romani, and this despite the fact that San Romani was given an eyelash verdict over him in the Princeton mile Saturday.

That race was run in 4:07.2 or within half a second of the world record and half of the 20,000 will always believe that Lash either won it or deserved no worse than a dead heat.

Photos of the finish show Lash and San Romani hitting the tape together and with the same stride and so close were they that the judges themselves disagreed on the winner for five minutes and then wound up by giving the nod to San Romani but the same time to both. The great Glenn Cunningham was a stride or two back in 4:07.4, making it the first time in history that three runners had finished under 4:08 in one race.

It was probably the strangest race ever run anywhere.

NARROW ESCAPE

The old watchman was the most important witness at an action for damages—a man had been knocked down at a grade crossing.

In the cross-examination he persisted that he waved his lantern frantically, but in vain.

"Bill, you were excellent," said the superintendent afterwards. "I was afraid you might break down."

"No fear," was the proud reply, I thought that fellow was going to ask me whether the lantern was lighted."

NATURALLY!

Visitor: Do you mean to say that you have lived here 10 years and cannot tell me the quickest way to the station?

Native: I've been a taxi driver all those years, sir.

As we understand it, officers should suppress a mob at all costs but should never hurt anybody.

Market Tone Is Better Today

Early Weakness Absorbed, Price Move Irregularly Higher, Today

By LESLIE GOULD
International News Service Financial Writer

NEW YORK, June 21.—The stock market developed a better tone today after early weakness, prices moving irregularly higher. First hour unsettlement reflected developments in the steel strike situation and resignation of the Blum government.

Steels moved up after showing losses to nearly a point at the start. U. S. Steel rose around a point and Republic almost as much, while Bethlehem and Youngstown were firm.

Chrysler erased a loss of over a point and went fractionally higher. General Motors moved up slightly.

North American rose over a point. Some other power shares scored fractional gains, while losses were reduced by the rest.

Rails cut down declines running to 2 points. Oils were fractionally lower as a rule.

Coppers were mixed. American Smelting gained around a point. Phelps Dodge ruled a point lower. Others reduced losses.

Communications were firm. Mail order and mining shares were easy. Rubbers recovered most losses. Amusement and building shares were steady.

Grains were buoyant. Cotton was higher. Bonds were irregularly lower.

Sheriff's Deputies Given Surprise

Doing Warning Duty At State Line, Get Moonshine Truck

Aiding the Mahoning county authorities on Saturday night returned Lawrence county dividends in the shape of 300 gallons of moonshine, one truck, one pleasure car and two prisoners. The liquor is stored and the prisoners, John Miller of Campbell, O., and Sherrold Chambers of East Liverpool, O., are in the county jail.

On Saturday afternoon Sheriff Edward D. Pritchard received a request from the Mahoning county authorities that he place men at the state line and inform motorists that conditions were unsettled in Youngstown, O., and advise people having no business there to stay away.

Chief Deputy Ben Hartland and Constable Robert McClenahan were stationed near New Bedford and stopped all cars until about 4:30 Sunday morning. At that time a truck came along and was flagged down.

Interested in the contents, the officers found 60 five-gallon cans of moonshine in a truck. Back of the truck was a pleasure car and this was stopped and found to contain caps and corks for bottles, the officers report.

An information will be made against the men before Squire C. L. Zedaker of New Bedford.

Death Enhances Beauty Of Estate

New Tranquility Seems To Have Descended On Rockefeller Estate McIntyre Finds

WOULD DO AWAY WITH NECK WEAR

By O. O. McINTYRE

NEW YORK, June 21.—In the manner of Arnold Bennett's journal: An English friend writes me seeing Col. Lindbergh walking slowly, head down, through a forest near his countryside home "a forlorn figure of inarticulate grief." It's his belief the crushing tragedy has made the Lindberghs permanent exiles.

O. O. McIntyre

M. and I drove about the great Pocantico Hills, home of the elder Rockefeller, the other sundown. Death somehow always intensifies the beauty of such estates. There was an odd calm and every bluff and pinnacle seemed starkly and affectionately silhouetted against the lemon sky.

Perhaps it was the visual enchantment as we stopped at one peak to gaze down upon the Hudson ruffed into a silvery glisten but the birds' evening songs seemed especially clear and lyrical. As though to carol a hope and a message all was well. Pleasant twilight musing anyway.

Because of motor difficulty we stopped beyond Tarrytown near the trailer home of a gypsy caravan. Two swarthy crones with rings in their ears, adder eyes and incredibly filthy slouched over with a greasy pack of cards. We shook our heads, waved them away and they cursed us with a magnificence Mark Twain would have loved.

How much we miss of little emotional raptures by clinging to the steel and asphalt of the city. I was telling V. V. McNutt that no musical event I ever heard—and that goes for the several highly bespoken symphonic offerings—have the skyey wallop of the robins' choir as night grays into the splendor of a morning pink. And where may one enjoy the exquisite melancholy that goes with the croak of pond frogs some place far back in the Ohio hills?

Outside of sporting a monocle to the manner born, no satorial doodad excites my ambition like wearing a white satin lined Inverness, with one corner of the cape flung over the shoulder just so! The only Invernesses I ever saw worn by Americans were on Phil Simms when he was a dramatic critic in Cincinnati and Dudley Field Malone arriving nobly at Ciro's in Paris one night. I'm not the Inverness type. Few are. The only acceptable Inverness candidates that pop into mind at the moment are Tony Biddle, Prince Andrew of Greece and Ben Ali Hagin.

Too, I've wished some stylist would touch off a muffler craze and do away for a time entirely with collars and ties. Not many gadgets look so jaunty as an expertly knotted muffler. And they can be worn every season of the year by a selection of light, medium and heavy materials. William Faversham was really the first mufflerist. Leslie Howard flings a mean muffler, so do Warren William and Harry Bannister. But the most accomplished of all is the British comedian Seymour Hicks. He gives it pomp, panache and punch. This about a muffler: Take the sorriest Bowery bum, shave him, cut his cair and swath his neck in a decent muffler and he will appear astonishingly duded up. I saw the experiment tried once by Eugene Walter, the playwright, in search for a bit of contrasting realism in a drama.

Two de luxe cat shops, mirrored and chromiumed to a glitter, were opened and shuttered within a month recently. Cats are difficult to handle in the confines of a small shop. They need big yards for roaming and high fences for cat walks otherwise they sicken and die. The most successful cat dealers are those who rear cats for sheer love of it in private homes in the suburbs.

On his way to California several weeks ago Will H. Hays had his son Bill, who had just been graduated from Wabash, meet him in Chicago for a dinner and theatre celebration. Next morning, as they were walking Michigan avenue, the elder Hays stopped before a new roadster drawing up at the curb. He noticed that the initials on the door were the same as his son's—W. H. H. Jr. By that time, The Great Light had broken over the boy. He realized it was a "plant", his father's way of surprising him with a graduation gift. Every young man should have one of these surprises in his life. It is difficult to recall them in later years without a throat twitch. Mine was on a lesser scale—a muckle dun pony hitched to the rack in front of my father's hotel on a birthday morning. No matter if, spurred beyond a slow walk, the pinto suffered from what is known in veterinarian vernacular as "the heaves"—a breathing malady suggesting sour notes from a tuba—it was one of the most memorable events of life. A real pony!

The results of the first registration day were made known today by Chief Clerk Thomas C. Edmunds of the registration commission. A total of 2116 voters in the rural communities were registered of which 1303 are Republicans and 813 Democrats.

The gain in the proportion for the Democrats is large. Before the last election the registration showed a three to one proportion for the Republicans. The present figures show about one and one-fourth to one for the Republicans.

In the office of Prothonotary and Clerk of Courts John A. Edgar an action to foreclose a mortgage has been filed by Mary E. Wilbur against J. C. B. and Ethel E. Douthett. The action claims $1,764.15 with interest from February 4, 1935.

The dingy halls of the welfare building are showing some improvement. Paper hangers have covered the walls with a light cheerful paper and it looks more attractive. Previously the walls of the hallway were dark, almost foreboding. Walking up the stairs one expected someone to spring out any minute and start fighting.

Cupid is doing fairly well this month. The marriage license deputy, Dorothy Gormley Smith, has been busy since June 1 with Saturdays as the peak of the week. Apparently Saturday is a day in which swains can get away without losing work and as a result the office is seldom without customers on Saturday morning.

Welfare Director Edwin O. Reed is receiving congratulations on the hill for his lucky escape in the accident in Butler. His car, hardly a month old was folded up like a second hand accordion but fortunately the personal injuries were minor.
